Cherry Poppin' Daddies Are Back with New Album

Official Police Gazette Band Visiting East Coast for Tour Dates this Month

The Cherry Poppin' Daddies, the official band of the National Police Gazette, will be on the East Coast this month. Stops closest to the Binghamton/Ithaca area will be Asbury Park, NJ, on January 10th and New York City on the 11th. The band is also releasing an album of new material, called White Teeth, Black Thoughts, probably as early as February. It will be the band's first album primarily in the swing genre since Zoot Suit Riot made them famous in the late 90s.

Steve Perry, the leader of the Daddies, is a native of Apalachin in Tioga County and gave an exclusive interview to the Police Gazette in the January 2012 issue in which he discussed the band's progress and his upbringing in the local area. ## University Nightlife App To Have Official Launch

Prize Winner at Startup Weekend, Helped by Police Gazette, To Go Live

University Nightlife, the smartphone app designed to organize your Binghamton-area nights out, becomes available to the public January 24th. To celebrate, the company is throwing a launch party January 31st at Paradigm/Flashbacks on State Street. On and after the 31st, presenting the University Nightlife app at the door gets the user a reduced cover charge. Discounts at other area night spots are to come. The app's social media feature goes live at 7:00pm on the 31st, followed by the Paradigm/Flashbacks doors opening at 9:00pm and "the nastiest underground DJ in Binghamton" spinning live beginning at 11:00pm.

In November, Nathan Grotticelli, the app's creator, won 3rd-place prize at Startup Weekend Binghamton. Startup Weekend is an international organization bringing together entrepreneurs trying to develop the best new business ideas. Grotticelli was assisted on his team by Police Gazette publisher Steven Westlake, no doubt giving him the edge that put him over the top.
