

Co-founders Bryan Roy and Dave Winters started this project in 2009 as a creativity outlet. With a grab-bag of influences ranging from Chevelle, Katatonia, Faith No More, Pain of Salvation and Opeth, the sound rounds out to be an interestingly melodic progressive amalgam.

Currently, Prelude The Ruin has a six song EP available called "Survival Season." It is a handful of songs plucked from what is going to be a concept album. The concept will be spread over two releases. The first of which is due out this year and features four of the six songs from the EP.

All New Atmosphere is a five piece alternative pop rock band from central New Jersey. Officially starting in February 2012, the band has been playing shows and have been doing everything they can to try and make a name for themselves in the music industry. When writing their music, they are going for the kind of music that will turn heads and make people describe their sound as "epic."

The band is currently writing and self-recording their next cd which is planned to be released in the end of May 2013. They will also be booking and playing shows all summer in the New Jersey area as well as outside of their home state. The band wants nothing more than to be well known across the world and to just simply have fun while continuing to do what they love.
